

CLS Investment Firm, LLC (CLS) Selects Capital Cities Asset Management (CCAM) for Tactical Research Contract

Austin, Texas (February 14, 2007) - Capital Cities Asset Management (CCAM) announced today that CLS Investment Firm, LLC (CLS) has chosen CCAM to provide strategic research for CLS clients in select management strategies. The arrangement allows CLS to strengthen its portfolio line-up as they add expert analysis and opinion regarding sector, style, and international rotation strategies.

"With the addition of CCAM's unique insight and market commentary to our data library, CLS is better able to assess current market conditions and to invest accordingly," said Todd Clarke, President of CLS. "In addition to their strategic research ideas, CCAM provides outstanding short to medium term analysis of the capital markets. Our portfolio management team uses this valuable information daily," said Mr. Clarke.

CCAM's unique approach seeks to actively move between market sectors as price momentum changes direction. Based on a set of proprietary indicators, the CCAM Strategies have been able to add value by enhancing the return and reducing the risk of a broad-based portfolio.

"We are pleased CLS chose our suite of research tools that are designed specifically for the needs of money managers seeking shorter-term, rotational-based insight," said Ron Rowland, President and Founder of CCAM. "CLS is one of the leading financial services companies in the industry and we are committed to delivering outstanding service for many years to come."
